

How Resolutions Move Through General Convention

THERE ARE FOUR SOURCES OF RESOLUTIONS - A,B,C,& D

When our representatives gather in General Convention they take council together through a legislative process. The legislative process begins with resolutions that are proposed by Deputies, Bishops, Committees, Commissions, Agencies, Boards, Provinces, and Dioceses of the Episcopal Church.

The resolutions of the General Convention when adopted by the House of Deputies (lay and clergy) and the House of Bishops become the Acts of the General Convention and govern the way we as a community of believers agree to live our understanding of the Christian faith.

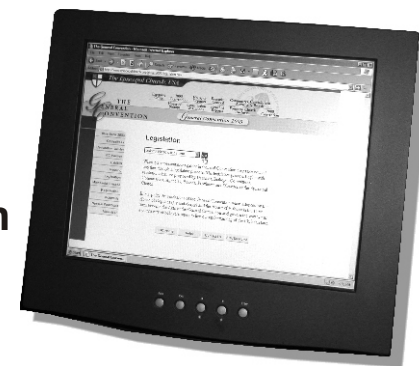

A Submitted by Committees, Commissions, Agencies, and Boards (Also known as CCABs)

B Submitted by Bishops

C Submitted by Dioceses or Provinces

D Submitted by Deputies

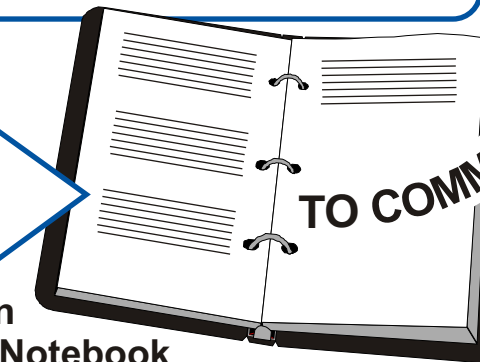

Submitted via the General Convention web site

"A" resolutions appear in the Reports to the General Convention - which is also known as the Blue Book

"B" "C" "D" resolutions will appear in the General Convention Notebook and will go to Legislative Committees

The Presiding Bishop and the President of the House of Deputies assign each resolution to one of the parallel or joint legislative committees in the House of Bishops and in the House of Deputies. They also designate the resolutions to start in one House or the other. Parallel committees meet jointly to review resolutions and hold hearings, but vote separately on their recommendations.
